Casattava is a 100 per cent birch plywood desk that adapts to the everyday activities and growth of its users at different ages. The flatpack desk, with its interlocking system of joints, is quickly assembled without any tools, and the height can be adjusted for the user. Casattava has two blackboard covers which can be used to take notes and hide the storage compartments. An engraving serves to hold pens and the tubular bar offers space for a clamp lamp or even a roll of paper.

Statement by the Jury

The well-thought-out and straightforward design of the height adjustable Casattava desk is to a high degree focused on delivering functionality.
